

this paper compares supervised and unsupervised methods .

it learns in a self-supervised manner, which means it is given a little more than data .

but it plateaus, meaning that we don't see a great deal of improvement if we add more training data, a question remains .